

Academic Futures

Tuesday 17 March 2020 15:00 (1 hour)

We will look at the risks and opportunities for doctoral and early career researchers applying for external funding, such as individual grants and research grants. Using an international perspective, we will present the strategy concept in a research context, illuminate the most important aspects of a competitive application, and give tips on moving from smaller to larger grants.